Truce Conferees Tackle Four Major Issues

House Beats Proposal To Oust Acheson

Washington, (AP)—The House turned down the "get Acheson" amendment after an angry debate yesterday and then passed the State-Commerce-Justice department appropriation bill.

It rejected numerous moves for big cuts in the measure to finance the three departments and the Federal judiciary for the year which started July 1, including a proposal to slash funds for the "Voice of America" to $70,000,000.

A total of $85,000,000 was voted for the "Voice" as compared with $115,000,000 asked by President Truman.

As it goes to the Senate the bill totals $1,045,940,115. Passage was by voice vote. A motion to recommit the bill to committee with instructions to trim the "Voice of America" appropriation by $70,000,000 was defeated on a roll call vote, 245 to 141.

The big fight was over a Republican sponsored move to forbid use of any of the State department's appropriation to pay any person with Secretary of State Dean Acheson's particular status and background. That lost 171 to 81 on a standing vote.

Before the ballot there was an hour of bitter quarreling over Democratic cries of "sneak attack" and challenges to the sponsors to try "straightforward" impeachment.

The total is $212,356,026 below the overall budget requests of the President, but most of this cutting was done in committee and the House refused to make large additional reductions.

Backers of the move to cut Acheson off the payroll put their proposal in general language but carefully tailored the specifications so they would fit nobody but the secretary.

The amendment offered by Rep. Phillips (R-Calif.) would not have removed Acheson from office. That could be done only by Presidential action or impeachment. But Phillips and some other critics of Acheson policy figured the secretary would find it embarrassing to stay around with his salary cut off.

Unsolved Killing Complicated By Arrest Of 'Victim'

Denver, (AP)—A tall, slim 43-year-old man—one detective described him as a "farmer-looking sort of guy"—was the key figure yesterday in a mystery involving a Louisiana killing.

The man, speaking in a mild drawl, said he didn't know a thing about it. The big puzzle in the case is that he has used the same name which authorities in Louisiana had thought was the name of the slaying victim.

Arrested while getting his hair cut, the man said he has been known here as John C. Harper, but also has used the name, Sam Jones. Louisiana officers, here to question Harper, said a man identified as Sam Jones was stabbed to death near New Orleans more than two years ago and was buried under that name.

Harper told Det. Capt. Charles J. Burns of the Denver police, he knew nothing of the slaying or of the fact a co-worker of Jones, Donald Easterwood, 26, had been tried for the slaying and acquitted. The jury even took up a $100 collection to give Easterwood a fresh start.

Senate Ignores 'Economy' Cries

Washington, (AP)—The Senate, brushing aside cries for "economy," yesterday voted $280,000,000 for this year's payments to farmers for soil conservation. The figure, approved without a rollcall vote, is $23,500,000 more than the House had voted.

Earlier the Senators on a 41-39 roll call had voted authorization for the same amount next year, up $55,000,000 from the amount the House allowed. They turned back repeated efforts to whittle down the sums, which in some cases couldn't even muster enough strength to get a record vote.

The Senate did, however, finally make one cut of $2,000,000 in the appropriation bill carrying more than a billion dollars for the Agriculture department's operations in the year which started July 1.

Raft Overturns

Bellaire, O., (AP)—A raft with two bachelors and two women aboard, conducting what was described as a sociological experiment, turned over near here last night. It has not yet been confirmed that all aboard were saved.

Inmate Chases Ball Right Out Of Prison Yard

Scranton, (AP)—Leaman L. Smith, 21, of El Monte, Calif., in the county prison awaiting trial, was having a catch with a softball in the jail yard Wednesday night.

The ball got away from him, and he chased it to a corner of the yard.

That was the last seen of him by the prisoner with whom he was playing. Later, two passersby said they saw a man drop from the wall outside the prison. Smith is missing. He was accused of stealing a car.

Seaway-Power Project Tabled By Committee

Washington, (AP)—The St. Lawrence seaway and power project, a subject of congressional controversy for two decades, was shelved again yesterday.

The House Public Works committee, after days of angry closed-door debate, voted 15 to 12 to table legislation that would have authorized the $818,000,000 international development.

The project, staunchly supported by President Truman, thus appeared to be dead for this session of Congress.

But Rep. Blatnik (D-Minn.), sponsor of the bill the committee tabled, described the setback as "not fatal to our chances."

He said proponents were "very hopeful" that the measure could be brought to the House floor before the end of the present 82nd Congress. Mr. Truman, at his news conference, also said he was still hopeful of an ultimate House vote.

12 Secondary Reds Rounded Up By FBI

San Francisco, (AP)—The FBI swiftly arrested 12 secondary Communists in a new move against the party yesterday.

Mary Bernadette Doyle, 45, a party organizer for the Mission district in San Francisco, was the twelfth person taken into custody late yesterday.

Earlier, four other women and seven men, secondary functionaries of the party, had been apprehended in quick FBI action in San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York.

Miss Doyle was taken hurriedly before U. S. Commissioner Francis St. J. Fox, who was holding a hearing to determine what bail to set for the four men and three women seized here.

In New York, the high bail of $100,000 had been set earlier for William Schneiderman, top Red executive at national headquarters. Bail of $75,000 each had been fixed for the two women and four men apprehended at Los Angeles.

The government here also demanded $75,000 bail each on contention that the secondary Communists might flee, as did four of the 11 top Communists.

Protest Blockade

New York, (AP)—Israel formally asked the United Nations Security Council yesterday to stop Egypt's interference with ships passing through the Suez Canal with cargo bound for Israel. Egypt replied that her blockade of Suez shipping is necessary for self-survival in the face of Israel's hostility.

Penn State Prexy Regrets Legion's Attack On College Without Presentation Of Evidence

State College, (AP)—President Milton S. Eisenhower, yesterday issued a statement regarding a resolution passed by the 23rd District of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion which charged that the Pennsylvania State College tolerates un-American activities on the part of its faculty.

"I regret that a branch of the American Legion should have launched a public attack upon the integrity and loyalty of the Pennsylvania State College. I have been at Penn State for a little more than a year. During this period, neither the Legion nor any of its members has presented to me or my associates any evidence which allegedly indicates there is subversive ac-

Acheson Asks $25 Billion Aid Program

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson set before Congress yesterday a vast global aid program costing $25,000,000,000 for the defense of U. S. Allies in the next three years.

That is the price, he said, to counter Soviet Russia's designs and bring about "an era of genuine relaxation of tension."

Acheson said Spain will get a share of the money—he did not say how much—but he declared that "considerable time must elapse" before Spain could be admitted into the North Atlantic Treaty alliance.

Testifying before the Senate Relations committee, Acheson disclosed that the administration's current request for $8,500,000,000 in foreign aid is only the first installment in a proposed long-range program.

Two more installments of about the same size will be needed, he said, to equip this country's Allies in Europe and Asia.

With some congressional critics already sharpening their knives to trim the huge program, Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) came up with an assist for the administration even as Acheson testified.

On the Senate floor, Lodge read a statement quoting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, as saying that if the proposed fund for European aid is cut in half, it would chop 14 divisions off the European defense force.

Gruenther also declared it would mean a 25 per cent cut in the number of air squadrons for forces under Eisenhower.

Lodge is supporting the military aid program.

Acheson told the Senate committee that the end of U. S. aid might come in 1955 so far as original equipment is concerned. He said it might be necessary to continue after that with some maintenance help, but the amount would be comparatively small.

Prior to the outbreak of the Korean War, administration leaders had said that the nation's foreign aid programs—notably the Marshall plan—would taper off sharply in 1952.

Acheson appeared as the lead-off witness in supporting the administration's bid for $6,250,000,000 in foreign military aid and $2,250,000,000 in economic aid.

Acheson told the senators that regardless of the outcome of the armistice talks in Korea, the need to rearm the free world against Communist aggression is "no less real than it was a month ago."

Potato Growers To Name Queen

Coudersport, (AP)—Demonstrations of "know-how" in potato growing shared the spotlight with a beauty contest here yesterday as the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Cooperative association opened its annual two-day meeting.

The beauty contest involves 21 girls vying for the crown of "Miss Potato Blossom of 1951", with the winner to succeed Miss June Keener, of York county. The decision will be announced today.

E. L. Nixon, adviser at agricultural experimental station at the Pennsylvania State College, reported that five "promising specimens" have been found among 180,000 potato seedlings tested at the station.

Admits Starting Fire

San Francisco, (AP)—Chief Homicide Inspector Frank Ahern said yesterday a 17-year-old boy had admitted setting the apartment house fire that took the lives of eight persons Sunday.

"An inquiry regarding one faculty member came to me recently from a member of the State Legislature."

The facts were quickly assembled, here and from government sources; I believe everyone was satisfied that the individual concerned is completely loyal. No one in this instance suffered an unwarranted public attack. "During the past year, I have come to know a high percentage of the members of the college faculty. It is my considered judgment that they are loyal

Field Claims Army Offered Him G-2 Post

Washington, (AP)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, wealthy New York leftist, balked yesterday at questions designed to connect him with Communists. But he testified the U. S. Army offered him an intelligence commission during World War Two which he failed to get.

Persons outside the Army blocked the commission, he said, because of a "certain problem."

He refused to say what the "problem" was, or to identify the Army officers he said had initiated efforts to get him a commission.

He appeared before the Senate Internal Security committee as a former official of the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private organization interested in the Far East.

The first question Field declined to answer, on grounds it might tend to incriminate him, was whether he posted bonds for Communist leaders. He has been serving a 90-day jail sentence for contempt in refusing to tell a New York Federal judge who contributed to a $50,000 Civil Rights Congress bail fund for four Communists who skipped following conviction with seven others for conspiracy to teach the overthrow of the government by violence.

Questioned about the Army commission, he said at least three persons tried to "break the jam" blocking the assignment.

The three were identified as William T. Stone, State department officer; Edward C. Carter, a trustee of the IPR, and Owen Lattimore, one-time State department consultant and now a professor at Johns Hopkins University.

Rent Rollback Wins Approval

Washington, (AP)—A conference committee agreed yesterday to permit rents in newly-designated critical defense areas to be rolled back to the levels in effect just before Korea.

Acceptance of the provision, from the Senate's economic control bill, was a distinct victory for the administration as a committee representing the Senate and the House sought to hammer the varying bills into one measure. The House had voted against such roll-backs.

Americans, devoted to the principles of democracy, abhorrent of totalitarian practice and philosophy, and highly competent teachers and research workers. They deserve the appreciation and support of all good citizens of the Commonwealth.

"I have great respect for the American Legion as a patriotic organization and believe that its membership does not wish to injure the colleges by hasty or intemperate action. Such an attack threatens the basic freedoms of the American system just as surely as does subversion by Communism. For these reasons, I am confident the resolution will not be approved by the membership of the Pennsylvania department of the Legion if it comes up for further consideration."

Truman Chides Arvey For Suggesting Ike Or Douglas

Washington, (AP)—President Truman yesterday tartly implied that a Chicago politician went off half-cocked by suggesting General Eisenhower or Sen. Paul Douglas as Democratic presidential prospects if Mr. Truman doesn't run in 1952.

The subject came up at Mr. Truman's news conference when a reporter said the Eisenhower-Douglas suggestion had been raised by Jacob Arvey, Chicago political leader.

With a dry chuckle, Mr. Truman said he thought Jake went off half-cocked once before in the history of the country.

"In 1948," a reporter said.

Yes, Mr. Truman said. It was during the 1948 campaign that Arvey sought to draft General Eisenhower before the Democratic convention. Later, Arvey supported Mr. Truman.

The President again ducked questions about his own intentions, and declined to say whether he will swing out on another "give-'em-hell" stumping tour this year.

In breezy good humor despite the stifling heat, Mr. Truman listened with a smile as newsmen paraphrased the question several times in an attempt to sound him out about '52.

Finally, he remarked that he was afraid he couldn't help them.

New Boss To Spur Lagging Plane Output

Washington, (AP)—The country yesterday got a new warplane production boss, simultaneously with a disclosure that aircraft deliveries dropped last month instead of rising.

Harold R. (Bill) Boyer of Detroit took over as chairman of a new aircraft production board and deputy chief of the Defense Production Administration for Aircraft.

The jobs were created on orders of Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson. Boyer, General Motors' director of production engineering, was assigned the task of cracking bottlenecks which have held back the vital aircraft segment of the armament program.

Boyer told a news conference he was not disturbed at what he called a "very slight" decline in plane deliveries in June. He said many of the ships standing on factory aprons need "only one or two small parts" to make them acceptable to the Air Force.

"I'm worried about the prospect six months to a year from now when the buildup really gets under way," Boyer said.

The bottlenecks which must be opened at once, he said, are shortages of machine tools for jet engines, heavy aluminum forgings, and production schedules which are not "realistic" and contribute to an unbalanced production effort.

Body Of Scout Found In Lake

Westfield, N. Y., (AP)—The body of Victor Smith, 15, Pittsburgh, Pa., Boy Scout lost Saturday with his scoutmaster on Lake Erie, was found yesterday in the water just off shore, state police reported.

Frank Rich, a cottage resident, discovered the body while looking at the lake through a pair of field glasses. The spot was about three miles west of Barcelona, a lakeside community near this Chautauque county village.

The boy and his scoutmaster, Cecil R. Kelley, 25, went out in a canoe Saturday noon and never returned. The canoe, however, was washed ashore nearby. No trace was found of the scoutmaster.

'Blind' Beggar Won't Make Same Mistake Again

Chicago, (AP)—Policeman John Grundman thought he recognized the man groping down the street, carrying a blind man's traditional white cane and a tin can.

The policeman asked, "Didn't I arrest you a few months ago?"

Indignantly, the man snapped, "I never saw you before in my life."

Held for questioning as a professional panhandler, the man, who is not blind, said he is Thomas Murphy, 49. From his police cell, he said ruefully, "I'll never make that mistake again."

Peace Outlook More Hopeful Says Truman

Washington, (AP)—President Truman said yesterday he is more hopeful over the outlook for peace as a result of progress in the Korean armistice talks.

This was Mr. Truman's only comment at a news conference on latest developments in Korea.

The President said he had no comment on General MacArthur's anti-administration speech in Boston Wednesday night. But after saying he had no comment Mr. Truman did deny the general had been threatened with any reprisals. Reporters had interpreted one part of the general's speech as an effort saying there had been threats.

What MacArthur said was that he had been warned to "keep silent—or take the bitter consequences."

As the first companies arrived, the Salvation Army workers stopped and began distributing coffee and doughnuts.

Agreement Is Reached On Agenda

U. N. Advance headquarters, Korea, Friday, (AP)—The eleventh—and brass-tacks—meeting toward an armistice in the Korean war adjourned today after an hour and 15-minute session.

There was no immediate announcement of developments during the conference—in which United Nations and Communist delegations tackled four vital issues on which a cease-fire depends.

It was announced the conference will be resumed at 10 a. m. tomorrow (7 p. m. EDT today).

In a 58-minute session yesterday the conferees agreed on a five-point agenda in nine minutes, and spent the remaining time in preliminary discussion of the basic issues.

The question of withdrawing all foreign troops from Korea was not on the agenda, but provisions were made to take up this touchy matter after a cease-fire becomes effective.

The Peiping radio, confirming the agenda, said it was agreed that a "higher level" meeting within "a certain time" would discuss withdrawing foreign troops "by stages" from Korea.

There was no indication when such a meeting would be held, or by whom.

Red demands for immediate withdrawal of foreign forces had been the stumbling-block to earlier agreement on an agenda.

A sharp warning against overoptimism for an early end of the 13-month-old war was issued, however, by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's United Nations advance headquarters.

"It is much too early to predict either the success or the rate of progress to be obtained," said the headquarters communique.

At present there is a wide divergence of views, it stated.

It said there were "numerous basic points" on which agreement must be found before hostilities can end.

Furthermore, the communique warned:

"It must be fully realized that mutual acceptance of the agenda is merely the initial step toward the final goal of a military armistice and resultant cease-fire, which must be achieved under conditions giving every reasonable assurance against the resumption of hostilities."

The United Nations command apparently wanted to make sure that the Reds would not use an armistice and cease-fire to mask another effort to drive the Allies into the sea.

In Washington, Secretary of State Acheson expressed similar concern. He said that if the armistice talks should collapse "we should be ready for a major Communist assault. . . the enemy has been building up his forces throughout this period."

In seeking an armistice, the U. N. and Red delegations have agreed to discuss these points:

One. Adopt an agenda—which they did immediately.

Two. Fix a military demarcation line and establish a de-militarized zone between the two belligerents. This buffer zone would be a basic condition for ending hostilities.

Three. Make firm arrangements for realization of a cease-fire and armistice in Korea, including the composition, authority and function of a supervising organization for carrying out the terms of the cease-fire. This referred to creation of a neutral international group to see that neither side violates the terms of the armistice.

The Allied negotiators are believed to be insistent that this group be given authority to travel freely behind the lines.

Four. Make arrangements relating to the exchange of prisoners of war.

Five. Make recommendations to the governments of the countries concerned on both sides. This last item apparently covered future discussion of the Communist demands that all foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea "as a practical condition" for a final peace.

Develop New Jet

London, (AP)—A British airplane firm announced yesterday it is mass-producing a new jet fighter that "will outfight any other known type of fighter interceptor flying today."

Stop Allied Attacks

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, Korea, Friday, (AP)—Artillery-supported Chinese yesterday stopped three Allied attacks cold on the eastern Korean front. An Eighth Army spokesman said that "activity in this area has stepped up considerably."

Howard Eckert Tops Voting In East Borough

Howard S. Eckert, present secretary of the East Stroudsburg school board and a board member, topped the balloting for school director nominations in East Stroudsburg during the Tuesday primaries. It was learned here yesterday as minor count totals were computed unofficially.

The only candidate filing a petition and, consequently, the only one whose name appeared on east borough ballots, Eckert chalked up a total of 698 Democratic and 175 Republican votes to capture nominations from both parties.

Former County Superintendent of Schools J. H. Kunkle and Carl Hamill, a contract painter residing at 217 E. Broad St., waged write-in contests on both tickets.

Kunkle, with 213 Democratic votes, gained second position on the Democratic November slate, while Hamill, who received 78 Republican votes, took second behind Eckert on the GOP side.

Hamill defeated Kunkle 78 to 63 for the other Republican nomination, but the former superintendent of schools had a comfortable 213 votes against Kunkle on the Democratic side. Nearly a score of other write-in votes were also tabulated.

Breakdown of the school director voting in the borough: First ward (R) Eckert 37, Hamill 12, Edwin Hughes, three; Kunkle 17, B. K. Williams, two; Harry Sutton, two; Dr. E. C. Reese, one; and Theodore Kistler, one Democratic—Eckert 96, Kunkle 35, Ellen Verway, one, and Mrs. Eugene Martin, one.

28th Division To Leave Camp On August 5

Camp Atterbury, Ind. (AP)—The main body of Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division will begin leaving Camp Atterbury August 5.

The Division will move to Fort Bragg, N. C., to take part in the "Southern Pine" maneuvers.

Lt. Col. I. MacLeod, of Philadelphia, will direct the movement. He said the transfer will require about five days, with the troops traveling by both rail and motor convoy. For the motor convoy, there will be four overnight bivouacs. The troop trains will make the trip in a day and a half.

Colonel MacLeod said an advance work party will leave Saturday to prepare the sites for the bivouacs.

The maneuvers are to start August 13 and end September 2. After the maneuvers, the division will return to Camp Atterbury and begin preparations for its

Aggression, New Style

There is a new bi-weekly magazine out entitled "News." It contains among other things, an article by one A. Trojanovsky under the heading of "Why I Support Soviet-American Friendship." The article is a testimonial to American efficiency, creative energy and democratic spirit.

And where do you suppose this magazine is published? Moscow.

But by far the most significant angle to the whole thing is that the magazine is published in English, not Russian, indicating clearly that it is for foreign and not domestic consumption. Significant, too, is the fact that the stuff that is being published in the Russian language is diametrically opposite in context to that which is being published in English.

Thus, to the Russian people, America is still a land of economic and political decay, of warmongers and enemies of the proletariat. But the Russians want us to believe that they really consider us no such thing.

It is the Lenin line of attack and retreat, whichever appears in the best interests of Communism at the moment. It is international sucker-bait, aggression in new form.

Our reaction must be the same as though it were standard-type aggression. We must continue our rearmament effort, seek additional supporting allies, and get tougher in our truce talks with the Chinese Communists.

The new propaganda line could be as dangerous as a new outbreak of aggression. It could also be a manifestation of internal weakness in the enemy which we would be foolish not to exploit.

Hoover Report Peril

Thirty leading Americans, representing the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, sound an urgently needed warning to President Truman and Congress.

The warning: Half of the Hoover Commission's carefully prepared program for government reorganizations to increase efficiency and promote economy is in grave danger.

Fifty per cent of that program was put into effect by the 81st Congress in 1949-50. But the other 50 per cent is stalled in the present 82nd Congress or at the White House.

Twenty bills, introduced with bi-partisan sponsorship, are gathering dust in House and Senate committees. And so far this year Mr. Truman has submitted only one reorganization plan.

By the same time last year he had submitted 27 plans and Congress had acted favorably on 20 of them.

It is true that many recommendations in the remaining half of the Hoover Commission's program are controversial. They need careful consideration, and their opponents are entitled to be heard fully.

The need for reorganization of such agencies as the Agriculture Department, the Post Office and the Veterans Administration has been shown clearly by the commission's studies.

So has the need for consolidating Federal medical services, modernizing government personnel procedures and ending the wasteful competition between rival public works agencies.

The present bumbling, fumbling Congress has a lot of other unfinished business, but that fact cannot justify it in shirking its duty toward the remainder of the Hoover report. For, as the 30 citizens say:

"It would be bad enough to see this report defeated openly by the forces of bureaucratic indifference and party selfishness after due hearing and debate.

"To see it go down through sheer neglect would be nothing short of a national tragedy."

A Boston dweller presented himself at the Pearly Gates, and when Saint Peter asked for her credentials, proudly presented a membership card to the Boston Symphony, dated to the Alhambra, a pass to the Lowell Lectures at Harvard, and a key to the private park adjoining her Beacon Street domicile.

Saint Peter, duly impressed, remarked, "Come in, madam, by all means—but I don't think you'll like it!"

David Appel's new book, "Commande," is a story of Custer's Last Stand, as told from the standpoint of the horse who was the only living creature to survive the attack. On the radio, Mary Margaret McBride asked Appel, "Do you give your readers the real low down on what actually transpired?" "Straight from the horse's mouth," quipped Appel.

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The second screen version of the play, "Strictly Dishonorable," is a jolly, almost believable romance between 59-year-old Elio Pinza and 23-year-old Janet Leigh.

What makes this unlikely pairing all the more remarkable is the previously previewed but still unreleased "Mr. Imperium." That tedious affair between Pinza and Lana Turner, 31, seemed probably the year's outstanding example of movie miming. It appeared to preclude further May-September screen romancing for the former Metropolitan Opera and "South Pacific" bass.

"Dishonorable" is so much better that MGM is reported to be bringing it out ahead of "Imperium" as Pinza's film debut.

In the lighthearted script, based on Preston Sturges' speakery play, Miss Leigh is a wide-eyed Southern gal. Since childhood she has adoringly followed the career of a famed opera singer (Pinza).

As a crowd extra, she innocently wrecks one of his big operatic scenes. With her stuffy boy friend, she visits Pinza at his apartment to apologize. His cynical press-agent (Millard Mitchell) suspects she's a hireling of a muckraking newspaper he has antagonized by the time her innocence is apparent. Leigh and Pinza have made morning-after headlines, and he's finding her far more interesting than his old friend, the countess (Maria Farnier).

The 1931 film version, in case you're trying to remember, starred Paul Lukas, Lewis Stone, and the late Sidney Fox.

Eighty years ago, five fugitives from the Carson City, Nev., state prison walked through a blizzard into the High Sierra village of Monte Diablo Lake, Calif. What happened there is blurred in mountain folklore, a 20th Century-Fox spokesman says, except this: some were killed.

Seizing upon this uncertainty, the studio has whipped out a fairly exciting movie, "The Secret of Convict Lake." When they arrived, the scripters have decided, the village menfolk were away on a gold strike. This left behind six women bossed by a stern matriarch, Ethel Barrymore.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Spain: One of our most severe national problems is to eliminate from our political affairs the effects of the violent intervention of Soviet Russia into American life from 1934 to 1945. During this period, news was slanted to be pro-Russian; the radio battered the minds of our people with a constant rhythm of exaltation of the Paradise of the Worker; the motion picture industry was almost dominated by Russian Commissars some of whom are now under indictment; text-books for our children in the public schools were re-written with emphasis on preference for Russia and its Marxian practices.

One of the results of this total subservience to Russian policy and purposes is a general assumption that something is extraordinarily bad about Spain. True, Franco produced a dictatorship, but so did Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, Kemal Ataturk, Chiang Kai-shek, Pilsudski, and a number of others who were thrown up by war, revolution, civil disturbances and a break-down in Europe of a thousand years of tradition at the end of World War I.

This is no defense of dictatorship. It is rather a statement of an historic trend during an era which is not yet ended. Franklin D. Roosevelt assumed that he could distinguish between a good and a bad dictator, which neither he nor anyone else could do because there are no good dictators. The autocrat, even with the best intentions, becomes a prisoner of his own powers.

Really, it was none of our business to make such distinctions. If the people of any country were willing to tolerate autocracy, that was strictly within their own rights. We Americans prefer a representative republic and take what comes with it.

The Russians hate Franco because he licked them in a fight. The Spaniards are the only Europeans who have shown enough courage to stand up to a proxy Russian force and to drive them out of their country. Most of the other Europeans thought that they could compromise with Stalin and some of them were turned into satellites for their pains.

It is curious that even some intelligent Americans accepted Stalin's propaganda that Stalin was a good dictator and Franco a bad one.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

By Harry F. Byrd

U. S. Senator From Virginia

Washington, July 26—There is an old saying among my friends in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia: "You can't measure a snake until it is dead."

The public will never know the full extent of the corruption in Reconstruction Finance Corporation lending activities until they are abolished. With four other senators, I have introduced a bill to abolish the RFC as a workshop for get-rich-quick political predators. And we intend to press for early action on the bill in the Senate.

In my judgment the practical way to attack moral turpitude in government is to remove the molasses that draws the flies. There are other sources of temptation in the government, but probably no other single federal agency has contributed as much as RFC to our descent, with mink coats, etc., to the moral morass about which there is now belated indignation.

No reorganization will deter unethical efforts by political money-changers to raid the credit of the government through the lending facilities of this depression agency which is now contributing to inflation.

Without going into the sordid record of fiscal vandalism practiced against the public and the government through the facilities of the RFC, which was brought to light in the Fulbright investigation, it suffices to say that Senator Fulbright found so much graft and fraud connected with the agency's activities that, in desperation, he suggested there should be a code of political ethics.

The idea of a code of political ethics has now been picked up by others in Congress and a subcommittee scheduled a series of hearings toward legislation to establish a commission to devise such a code.

The very fact that members of Congress are giving serious consideration to such a proposal is not merely an indictment; it is a confession, not only of irresponsibility in government, but also of moral and ethical turpitude on the part of those entrusted with guiding the government of the United States in the most perilous period in all our history.

Those who are practical and realistic know that no code of ethics hanging on federal agency walls will influence the kind of political camp-followers, who are victimizing the American public and discrediting our government, to reform their ways.

If the time has come in America when we must pass a law and appoint a commission to establish a code of ethics to tell public servants they should be honest; to tell public servants they should be loyal to their government; to tell public servants they should not barter public trust for greedy personal profit; if the time has come when Congress has to set up a commission to rewrite the ten commandments with special application to political opportunists, then the basic virtues of our form of government have been crucified on the Fair Deal cross.

Before the RFC investigation there were the "five percenters" influence peddlers, and the Bennett Meyers disclosures; and after the RFC there were the patronage peddlers in Mississippi. And during the RFC investigation it was disclosed that the requirement for clearance of all RFC directors through the chairman of the National Democratic committee tied a government agency, with nearly $2 billion of public money to lend, in a Gordian knot to a strictly political committee with no responsibility to the public.

The moral situation in the federal administration today has prompted the Hon. James A. Faley, one of the most honorable men ever to serve the people of this country, to say:

"We are told that if the act of a public official is not illegal it is necessarily proper and always excusable."

Soooooooo, have you any suggestions, President Kinner of American Broadcasting or Gen. Sarnoff at NBC, and how about you, Bill Paley, at CBS?

June Fraser, of the Terrible

The Hon. Lindsay Warren, Comptroller General of the United States, has testified that some high government officials "make it a rule rather than the exception to accept cocktail parties, hotel bills and even transportation from contractors while at the same time drawing travel expenses and allowances from the government added that the people of this country "can no longer afford to excuse unconscionable conduct by those who plead that they stayed within the letter of the law."

Centralization of power, like a magnet, attracts those who would abuse government facilities. We have been on a creeping toboggan to centralization of power in Washington for years. Through give-away program on top of give-away program by which the government takes money away from people and gives them back less than it takes, and in the process makes them think they are getting something for nothing — and through easy credit agencies like the RFC, piled one upon the other — we have gradually centralized power in a gigantic, sprawling bureaucracy which is just too big to audit.

There are nearly a score of federal credit agencies at present pouring out public money through at least 100 credit programs within their jurisdiction. The RFC is a credit agency which, having outlived its usefulness, has become the symbol of moral breakdown in the federal administration. It is at least one of these agencies whose lending activities could be abolished.

The only difference between these two countries is that Soviet Russia has since 1917 been the enemy of the United States, constantly and consistently; Spain, on the other hand, has desired since 1936 to establish friendly and realistic relations with the United States.

Part of the Communist propaganda against Spain has been to emphasize the anti-Semitism of the Franco regime. Yet, during the war, Spain was open to Jewish refugees from Germany while in Russia, Judaism, as a religion, was suppressed.

(In this connection, I wish to recommend those who really desire to know something on the subject of a new book, "The Jews in the Soviet Union," by Professor Solomon M. Schwarz, published by Syracuse University Press. This is an invaluable study of spiritual genocide as practiced by Stalin.)

The Navy the Air Force and nearly all students of the military problems which beset this country as a result of our failure in World War II to win a peace insist that the United States requires bases in Spanish territory. Their argument runs that the Iberian Peninsula is our surest gateway to Europe and that should Northern Europe be overrun, we shall have to defend ourselves from Spain and North Africa.

The argument in favor of this subject is technical from a military standpoint and is out of my field. It is obvious, however, from past history that the country which dominates the Mediterranean, can dominate Europe. That argument ran throughout World War II and it will be recalled that Churchill wanted the Allies to invade Europe from the Mediterranean, which Stalin and George Marshall opposed. Roosevelt eventually sided with Stalin and Marshall and that is why we lost the peace.

From that experience, we can assume that the expert's desire for bases in Spain is a correct view. The late Admiral Forrest Sherman negotiated such a contract with Franco on a strictly tie elements general in such transactions. That is all to the good, business basis without the romance, because if we do business with Europeans without romance, we shall get somewhere.

Our task is to do the best we can to save ourselves from more wars and the killing of our sons in futile wars such as we have experienced in Korea. M bases in Spain will help in this direction, a deal with Franco is sound.

Then the little woman told him why she came out today. "After they shipped the scale to you," she said, "I found out that they had sent you only one key for the container where the pennies go. You should have gotten two keys. So I brought the other one out to you today."

"You came fifty miles out here just to bring me that key?" Joe Colgan asked. "Why didn't you just mail it?"

"Well, there was another thing that bothered me," the lady said. "When I said you that scale I forgot to show you the places where it should be oiled, and I was afraid you might not know. The time for oiling is long past due. But I was sick in the hospital or I would have come out before."

Then she asked Joe to look. He did.

She pulled a little can of oil out of her handbag and squirted a few drops into each place that was supposed to be lubricated.

Joe asked her to have a bite to eat with him at his lunch counter. "No thank you, I have had my lunch."

He offered to pay her fare, which amounted to a couple of dollars.

"No, thank you. This was my oversight, not yours."

She finally accepted a chocolate ice cream soda. As she was sipping it, she looked at the clock.

"My goodness, it's time for my bus."

She just about made it.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Real Car Of Tomorrow

Elmer Twitcheil, eminent auto engineer, pinhole player, student of affairs and daily double addict, has come up with an Auto of Tomorrow which he thinks makes the experimental Le Sabre of General Motors old hat already. The G.M. Car of the Future boasts, among other things, a built in hydraulic auto jack and a top that closes automatically if a raindrop hits the sensitized fabric. Mr. Twitcheil's wonder wagon goes far beyond such trivialities. Perhaps its most long-awaited improvement is the "Presto - Vanish" panel between the rear seat and the trunk compartment. When any back-seat driver starts giving orders, a button is touched ever so lightly, the secret panel drops and the guilty party is yanked back into the trunk compartment by terrific air pressure. (Another button fills the compartment with gas.)

Mr. Twitcheil is keeping many features secret, but reveals the following Twitcheil - Kar innovations:

1.—An automatic device, for current low auto bodies, which takes the dent out of your hat and slaps a plaster on your bashed forehead if you forget to duck when entering the car. (It also releases a phonographic recording which handles the profanity.)

2.—The "Pipe-Down-O-Meter," an apparatus so sensitized that at the words "you took the wrong turn," "look out for that pole" or "you're over the white lines," an iron arm slugs the offending passenger.

3.—A built-in Snappy Answer Machine which shouts, "Gwan'ya fathead!" "Where did ya learn to drive?" "Aw nuts" and "You and who else?" right and left in heavy traffic, thus relieving the driver of the job.

4.—The Disguise-O. In emergencies where you have been in an accident and intimidation of the other driver is called for, you throw a switch. Instantly a policeman's hat and badge are slapped onto you electrically, and, as you emerge from the car, you have the other fellow three down.

Mr. Twitcheil is working on an auto steering wheel which will now require the touch of a human hand, thus enabling a driver to operate with a holdup in one hand and an ice-cream cone in the other on summer trips. He also plans an automatic fender straightener, and is experimenting with an "extra blade" idea, through which a battered or dented fender can be dropped and a new one swiftly slipped into place when required.

"I think the present trunk compartment is most inadequate," he said today, "and in my new car I hope to make it large enough to

Scout Leader Hit By Auto, Seriously Hurt

Blakeslee—A 16-year-old Wilkes-Barre Boy Scout camp counselor was seriously injured near here last night while walking in company with two other scouts on Rt. 940 a quarter of a mile west of Blakeslee Corners.

The victim, John Ralston, of 26 Meldon St., Wilkes-Barre, was struck when he stepped into the path of a 1941 sedan owned and operated by William H. Smith, 70, of Pocono Lake.

Smith, accompanied by his brother, J. Oscar Smith, also of Pocono Lake, was driving east on Route 940 when they approached the three campers from the rear.

State police of the Brodheads-ville substation said that it is believed that a westbound auto carrier, reportedly traveling at a fast speed, excited young Ralston and he turned and took a half step directly into the right front of the Smith machine.

He was pitched to the highway.

Investigating troopers indicated that Ralston, Emanuel Ametrano, and John Tierney, two other Wilkes-Barre Boy Scout seniors, were walking in single file along the south side of the highway in an easterly direction at 8:15 p. m.

The car passed Ametrano and Tierney, but Ralston, who was in the lead, was hit when he turned as the auto carrier passed.

Dr. James G. Kitchen, of Pocono Lake, was called to the scene to administer emergency treatment to the injured youth, after which the Pocono Lake ambulance removed him to Wilkes-Barre General hospital.

The hospital reported late last night that Ralston has a severe scalp wound and a possible fracture of the skull.

Police said no charges will be placed against the driver of the car.

Boy Runs Into Side Of Car

Bushkill—A nine-year-old boy was slightly injured when he ran into the side of a car in the parking lot at the Fernwood club south of here on Route 209 early Wednesday night.

The boy, Anthony Giolito, of 114 N. Sixty-First St., New York, was taken to the East Stroudsburg office of Dr. Charles Rushmore for treatment. It had been reported that several persons were injured in the mishap, but more complete information yesterday indicated that only the lad was hurt.

He was treated by Dr. Rushmore and then permitted to return to his parents.

Stroudsburg State police were called when the accident was first reported, and Cpl. Thomas G. Barclay and Pfc. Edward T. Beneski responded.

They said no investigation was conducted, after it was found that the mishap had occurred on private Fernwood property and not on a public highway.

Ethel Waters To Receive Book Award

Camp Tamiment — The Tamiment Institute Book Award, presented annually to the best biography written by an American, will be awarded to Ethel Waters here August 2 for her autobiography "His Eye Is On The Sparrow."

The book award committee is composed of Ben Josephson and Ben Blaker, director and assistant director of Camp Tamiment; Louis Waldman, New York lawyer, author of Labor Lawyer and chairman of the institute since its founding 15 years ago; Algernon Lee, president of the Rand School of Social Science; George Ross, New York businessman.

The award, consisting of a scroll and a check for $500, will be presented to Miss Waters at a special meeting of the institute on August 2.

The Tamiment Institute is a non-profit, educational organization carrying out work of a social, economic and cultural nature among adults.

"His Eye Is On The Sparrow" was written by Ethel Waters with Charles Samuels. Published by Doubleday in March, it was a Book-of-the-Month club selection, and is still high on the best seller lists.

The 1950 Tamiment Institute Book award was presented to Rupert Hughes for "The Giant Wakes", a novel based on the life of Samuel Gompers.

According to the instructors, anyone is eligible to enroll in the classes which are being held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 a. m. to noon, and Wednesdays and Fridays from 6 to 8 p. m.

It also was announced yesterday that plans are being completed for the water carnival which will be held the first or second week in August. The program, so far, includes a watermelon race, a water polo contest, a water ballet, and an interpool swimming and diving meet.

Contestants from 10 to 18 years of age may register for any of these events at the "shack" near the pool. Refreshments will be served to everyone who participates in the carnival.

Business News In Monroe Area

Responsibility for issuance of authorization to commence construction of residential developments of local, state and federal agencies, where necessary under National Production Authority Order M-4, has been transferred from National Production Authority to the Public Housing Administration, it was announced yesterday.

John A. Kervick, director of New York Field office of PHA, are now receiving applications.

The area under Mr. Kervick's jurisdiction covers New England, the Middle Atlantic States and District of Columbia.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, serving this region, said yesterday department store sales for June in the district failed to show an increase over a year earlier for the first time in 13 months. Seasonally adjusted sales for the month equalled those of last June, but were up somewhat from the level of May. Business for first half of the year exceeded that of the corresponding 1950 period by nine per cent.

Department stores managed to reduce their inventories again during the month.

Following small declines in May, employment, total wages and working time in Pennsylvania manufacturing establishments were unchanged in June, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia.

Most major industry groups showed some increase in employment during the month. Seasonal contraction and reduced demand, caused a decline of six per cent in employment in textile industry.

Compared with a year ago, however, employment, payroll, and working time were eight, 23 and ten per cent higher.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There comes a season in a girl's life when she seems to age three years and grow two feet over night. Of course, she really doesn't and the process is more or less gradual, but to her mother's friends who may not have seen her for several years, the change practically knocks them speechless.

But not entirely, unfortunately. Because they gasp and say "Why how you've grown." It's such a unanimous remark that by the fifth or sixth time, the poor child must be feeling somewhat the same size as a baby elephant.

Very well-mannered youngsters are, or they might be tempted to retort "Well, you've aged quite a bit yourself." Though really, it is a shock, but one that happens more than once in a lifetime.

The sudden change from the baby to the toothless seven-year-old; the change from the knobby-kneed stage to the one with curves and lipstick; the change from the teen-ager indifferent to grownups to the poised and charming young woman; and the change which nobody mentions at all to your face with the grey hair and wrinkles.

Fortunately, the person herself has a sort of inner continuity, and somehow stays just the perfect age in her heart, no matter how things may look from the outside.

Pork Chops may be browned and then braised in a little water with some minced onion and a few peppercorns added for flavor.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Byrer

Richard M. Byrer Married In New York City Church

Miss Gladys Merk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Merk, of 1034 E. 31st St., Brooklyn, N. Y., was married July 8 to Richard M. Byrer, of 19 Spangenburg Ave., East Stroudsburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Byrer, in Our Lady Help of Christians church. A cocktail party was held in the bride's home after the ceremony, followed by a reception at the Towers hotel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a bodice of Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her finger tip veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of orchids, orange blossoms and lilies of the valley.

Miss Sara Reale attended the bride as the maid of honor and wore coral nylon net gown. She carried delphiniums. Miss Marcela DeKeyser was the bridesmaid and wore powder blue nylon and carried Talisman roses.

Benedict Ricardi, of Bayonne, N. J., acted as best man. The ushers were Frederick Merk, brother of the bride, and Martin Byrer, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride attended Columbia University. Mr. Byrer attended East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and is now studying at Pace College. Mr. Byrer is employed by the American Anthracite and Bituminous Coal Corp., in New York.

After a wedding trip to Vermont, the couple will reside on Shore Road, Brooklyn, New York.

When you are frying fish fillets or fish steaks, don't use too high heat. Brown one side carefully, then turn and brown on the other, being careful not to break the fillets.

Small magnets, clipped to a recipe card, will hold it on a metal cabinet so that you can read the card easily while you're cooking. This will also keep the card clean and out of the way.

The cafeteria, which will be open throughout the show for the convenience of the public and of the exhibitors, will be in charge of Mrs. William G. Moore and Mrs. Nathan Meyer, Tuesday; Mrs. F. Lynn Laniz and Mrs. Russell Cramer, Wednesday; Mrs. Fred Davis and Mrs. Eli Travis, Thursday; Mrs. George Marsh and Miss Ellen Hoffman, Friday.

Serving as cashier for the various days will be Mrs. William Gorman, Tuesday; Miss Nora Lettler, Wednesday; Mrs. Henry Tucker, Thursday; Mrs. Guyton Kempner, Friday.

Girl Scouts of the county will serve ice cream and sodas in the basement throughout the show. Dealers from many sections of the country have bought every available display place, and will feature thousands of dollars of furniture, glass, china, silver, dolls, books, lamps, prints and jewelry in the show which annually attracts hundreds of persons, not only from the county itself but also from the resorts and nearby cities. Mrs. Gilbert Barthold is manager of the show.

Bible Story Hour To Begin At Playgrounds

For the second year, the Children's Bible Story Hour will be held each Friday in both the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg playgrounds. The success of the program, sponsored by Sunday school teachers of different churches last year, has encouraged them to expand the program this year.

Beginning with Friday, July 11, there will be children's songs, motion choruses, a toy band, and many kinds of illustrated stories each Friday afternoon. In Stroudsburg, the story hour will run from 3 to 4 p. m. and in East Stroudsburg from 1:30 to 2:30 until the playgrounds close.

Open to all children, the classes will be conducted by Mrs. Grant Keiper and Mrs. Stanley G. Hawk.

Supervisor Race Holds Key Interest

Newfoundland — The fight for Greene township supervisor on both the Republican and Democratic sides attracted major interest at the primary election here.

Howard Cross, Greentown farmer, ousted incumbent Russell Van Buskirk as the Republican standard bearer in the fall general election, totalling 169 votes to Van Buskirk's 73. Harold Rohrbacher ran a poor third with 40 votes.

On the Democratic side, George Rarick garnered 37 to Cecil Smith's 26 to win the nomination for a six-year term as supervisor.

The following were nominated for other offices in Greene township: Republican — Leslie Corey, judge of elections; John Simons, inspector of elections; Fred Schoenagel and Lawrence Grimm, school directors (six years); Fred Hart, school director (4 years); Nelson Ostrom, constable and Mildred Ruth, justice of the peace.

Democratic: Roy Carlton, judge of elections; Frances Haser, inspector of elections; Leland Rose, constable; Katherine Grimm and Lawrence Grimm, school directors (six years); John Whitaker, school director (four years); John Walters, auditor; Richard Hazelton, justice of the peace.

Droher township: Republican: Donald Stevens, assessor; Adam S. Hahn and Robert Burdick, school directors; Joseph Jacobs, justice of the peace; Palmer Rohrbacher, auditor; Isaac Martin, supervisor; Claude Smith, judge of elections; Wallace Simons, inspector of elections.

Democratic: Donald Stevens, assessor; Jacob Rohrbacher, school director; Truman Osborne, supervisor; Claude Smith, judge of elections; Charles Bartleson, inspector of elections.

In the voting for county offices, both townships registered majorities for candidates backed by the Duff-Fine faction.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Although the mercury is pounding away at the 100-degree mark like a trip-hammer in a ship yard, the basketball scandal uncovered in New York last winter continues to spread throughout the nation, just as most of us thought it would when the short-sale of the fens was first uncovered. As recent trends have now conclusively proven, Madison Square Garden is no more responsible for the wild sport than Uncle Hiram's Cider press. Recent investigations have revealed that one of the biggest deals in the entire affair took place in Philadelphia.

New York is no more guilty of foul play on the basketball court than Philadelphia, San Francisco, Chicago, Toledo or Little Peoria, Ill., although the various gambling syndicates seem to always make the "big city" their headquarters. This writer is only one of millions who is extremely hopeful that the investigation now in progress will rid the great court sport of the underworld element that has climbed on board in recent years. Right now the law enforcing agencies are doing a pretty terrific job—let's hope it continues.

Bradley was the one school that tried to place the entire blame for the recent scandal on Madison Square Garden, but in turn found several of the woodpile thieves hiding under its own back porch. The "back to the campus" tournament staged by Bradley last spring was supposed to lure all of the major schools out of the big halls and back to the campus. However, due to recent developments it is quite possible that just the opposite will take place, as the larger basketball centers will be much better policed than the small ones. The case centers will be much more careful than ever during the coming winter months.

The recent scandal has only too clearly shown that evil forces will take charge of basketball regardless of where it is played. If there is enough money to be had, high school games would even come under the watchful eye of a gambling character who would sacrifice anything to put his greedy fingers on a dollar bill. It is up to authorities, especially in the schools, throughout the nation to keep a check on the manner in which games are played, the manner in which the various contests are scheduled and the behavior of players both on and off the hardwood.

An outgrowth of the present investigation appears to be the fact that the authorities are much more concerned in prosecuting those giving the bribes rather than those accepting the money to fix the point spread on the various contests. This point is rightfully clear, but this writer is more convinced than ever that those guilty of tampering with the game while in the role of active players should be penalized, and plenty, for the dishonest position which they held while posing as all-Americans and near all-Americans during the 1950-51 basketball campaigns.

The various players sold the paying customers short all season and made those who selected all-American teams look more like judges of horseflesh, as many of those selected as the top players in the land are prominent figures in the fix scandal which has now spread to virtually every section of the United States. An example of these weak, so-called basketball stars, must be made to discourage a similar occurrence in future years. Temptation was great, but so was the respect in which each of these players was held before the fans realized that the game was being played under a cloud and that they were being led about by the nose like a prize bull.

Basketball, like baseball following the "Black Sox" scandal into the hands of its way back into the confidence of the paying customers, who actually make the game possible. Honesty, watchfulness and the desire to win are the three items most needed among the players and coaches of the land. If the game of basketball is to regain its high place in society—the one held before the dollar bill took the place of a field goal or a perfectly executed foul shot.

IAM Takes Measure Of Kulp's Foundry

IAM used a big five-run fourth inning as its main weapon to defeat Kulp's Foundry last night, 11-8, in a Monroe County Softball League game played at the East Stroudsburg playground.

The winning aggregation, in addition to its big frame, tallied two times in the first, once in the third and three in the seventh round.

Scoring
Kulp's Foundry came up with four counters in the first, one in the fourth and three in the sixth. Harold Freeman hit a home run in a winning cause, while Dick Smoke was credited with the pitching victory and Bob Held with the loss.

Gavilan Signs To Defend Title

New York (P)—Welterweight champion Dick Gavilan of Cuba yesterday signed to defend his title against Billy Graham of New York in Madison Square Garden, August 29.

No Chance
There was no return bout clause in the contract at the insistence of Eddie Egan, chairman of the State Athletic commission. Gavilan will receive 32½ per cent of the net receipts, and Graham 25. Graham and Gavilan met twice before and divided honors.

Rickey Goes Hunting
Pittsburgh (P)—General Manager Branch Rickey, still trying to get the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar, flew to Indianapolis yesterday to look over two players with the American Association league club. Rickey said he will determine if infielder Dick Cole and possibly an Indianapolis pitcher are ready to come up to the Bucs.

Phillies Blank Cards
St. Louis (P)—The Philadelphia Phils shut out the St. Louis Cardinals 7-0 before 9,581 fans last night behind the seven-hit pitching of ex-Cardinal Ken Johnson. Eddie Waitkus and Richie Ashburn led the Philadelphia offense, each getting a double and two singles. Philadelphia .110 .022 .100—7 14 1

Vollmer Leads Crimson Hose To Victory

By Bill King

Boston, (AP) Clutch-hitting specialist Clyde Vollmer lashed his third home run yesterday to give the Boston Red Sox a 13-10 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the seventh game of the season.

Vollmer, whose timely hitting has kept the Red Sox high in the American League pennant fight for the past three weeks, spotted his seventh home run, a two-run shot, in the sixth inning, to break a 10-10 deadlock in the sixth inning. That game-winning blow found Bobby Doerr and Billy Goodman on base with two out.

In the previous frame, when the Red Sox appeared doomed to be overpowered in a slugfest that eventually totaled 31 hits of all sorts, Vollmer put his forces back in the contention by homering against Randy Gumpert.

First Blow

Vollmer's first four bagger of the day was at the expense of Luis Aloma, the second of the four Chicago flingers. It also found Doerr on base and it climaxed a Red Sox five runs first inning rally.

Dom DiMaggio and Ted Williams also hit for the circuit as the Red Sox put on a 17 hit barrage.

Eddie Robinson did the same for the White Sox. The latter's came with two on base in the second inning and moved the White Sox into a 7-3 lead.

When Kinder, who now boasts a 7-1 record, appeared with two out in the sixth, he found himself in a 10-10 tie.

Paul Richards' again aroused fourth-place forces had belabored Willard Nixon, Bill Wright and "Chuck" Stobbs as if they owned them. The trio had given the White Sox 12 of their 14 hits.

Kinder got underway by striking out Phil Masi, thus retiring the side with Don Lenhardt on third and Jim Busby on second. The latter had just stolen his nineteenth base of the season.

Indians Break Long Losing Habit At Stadium By Taking Yanks Into Camp In Series Final

New York (AP) — It took the Cleveland Indians exactly 12 months and 12 days to win a game at Yankee stadium. They accomplished the feat yesterday in their fourteenth attempt, by trouncing former teammate Allie Reynolds in six innings to hammer out a 9-4 victory over the league-leading New York Yankees.

In salvaging the last of the three-game set, the third-place Indians moved back to within a game of the Yankees, who had their lead shaved to a scant two percentage points over Boston.

The Red Sox are breathing down the necks of the defending champions after winning a 13-10 slugfest from Chicago's White Sox.

It was Cleveland's first win here in nine games this season. The Yankees also won the last five games in the stadium last year following a July 14 defeat by Bob Lemon.

They added two off relief hurler Johnny Klippstein on Roy Campanella's seventeenth homer with a mate aboard and scored their last three in the ninth inning at the expense of Klippstein and Joe Hatten.

Octogenarians Take Time Off Chores To Vote

Kresgeville — The two oldest voters to cast ballots at Tuesday's primary in the Polk Township election house were Charles Gildner, who was 92 in May, and Osborne Davidson, who was 87 last November.

Even more remarkable was the discovery made when a car came to pick them up and take them to the polls. Gildner was putting up a chicken fence around posts he had already installed, and Davidson was weeding his truck patch.

Eastburger Film Chosen

State College, Pa., (AP) — A film dealing with the birth of "The Eastburger," East Stroudsburg high school newspaper, was selected for showing to educational journalism classes at the Pennsylvania State College.

The selection was made to illustrate the process of turning out high school publications and the responsibilities involved for prospective high school newspaper faculty advisors.

Called "The Birth of the Eastburger," the film was made by Robert W. Neyhart under the direction of John E. Eckert, both faculty members at the East Stroudsburg High school.

SINCERE THANKS!

To the Voters of the Fourth Ward of Stroudsburg, I wish to express my appreciation to both parties for the nomination as Constable.
